* Please note that no dividend was declared for the Allan Gray Equity Fund 31 December 2001. The Fund experienced huge inflows towards the end of the quarter and a number of the new shares bought were already declared ex dividend. Therefore dividends payable had to be spread over more units but costs per unit remained the same. This in no way means that the unitholder is prejudiced by these inflows as the dividends available for distribution are included in the price of new units. The total value attributable to each unitholder therefore remains the same. What has changed is that the composition of the unit price reflects more capital and less income than prior to the large inflows.

 No income yield as the Fund is less than one year as at date of distribution.
